

MORE THAN 60 EDITORS HERE FOR SESSIONS ON AP SERVICE

Increased coverage of state news and better photographic service were discussed Saturday at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Associated Press held at the Hotel Gettysburg.

More than 60 news executive from papers throughout the state joined in talking over means of bettering news facilities and in seeing a demonstration of wire photo service. The state organization is planning to start a state-wide wirephoto service network in the near future, it was announced.

James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News and Tribune, was elected president of the organization; Frank Walker, managing editor of the Hazleton Plain Speaker and Standard Sentinel, was elected vice president and Hugh Wagnon, chief of the Philadelphia AP Bureau, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Discuss News Coverage

Jerry Weinstein, editor of the Centre Daily News, State College, led a discussion on single circuit operations and Dale H. Gramley, editor of the Bethlehem Globe-Times, conducted a forum on trunk wire services. S. P. Lewis, telegraph editor of the Easton Express, outlined coverage of state news and asked for additional member cooperation.

Paul L. Roy, editor of the Gettysburg Times, welcomed the editors to the meeting and at a dinner held in connection with the convention. Henry M. Scharf, managing director of The Times, invited the group to make Gettysburg the permanent site of their annual gatherings.

Pictures are more dangerous than words, the editors were warned by Stewart F. Taylor, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, who pointed out that news pictures "cannot be modified and may be misleading." A picture, while it tells exactly what happened at a particular time and place, may distort the news because it cannot show the entire story, Taylor's notes, which were read at the convention, said.

Scranton, Reading, Easton and Philadelphia papers have already subscribed to the state wirephoto service. Wagnon told the group, adding that even though all papers do not join the circuit the transmission of pictures will be speeded to all Associated Press member papers as a result of the state circuit.

In line with bettering AP news-picture service in the state, a staff photographer has been added to the Harrisburg bureau—the first to be added to the staff of any news bureau at Harrisburg. In addition a picture editor has been appointed at the Philadelphia bureau, Wagnon said. A corps of more than 50 photographers is available to the AP in the Philadelphia area through cooperation of the Inquirer and Bulletin, Wagnon asserted.

Ralph E. Wallis, news photo editor of the AP for Pennsylvania, reported that 700 pictures had been (Please Turn to Page 8)

SPEAKS ON JULY 4TH

Government Gives Back 2,500 Soft Coal Mines

By HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, June 30 (AP) — The government lowered the American flags over more than 2,500 soft coal mines today and formally restored the pits to the private owners after 13 months of federal operation.

The contract dispute which prompted federal seizure of the mines May 22, 1946, still was unsettled, however, and another strike at conclusion of the current 10-day vacation July 8 is a definite prospect.

With the government stepping aside as operator, it will be up to the owners themselves to make terms with the miners. If they don't succeed by July 8, the miners are expected to stay home.

The government gives back the mines in the same condition it found them 13 months ago — empty of workers.

Forced to step out of the pits at noon (11 a. m., EST) with final expiration of the Smith-Connelly War Labor Disputes Act, one federal agency thus gets rid of the coal headache but another is ready to

Mrs. Poppay Files Election Papers

Mrs. Erma D. Poppay, 156 Seminary avenue, is the first person to file a petition as a Republican candidate for the Gettysburg school board at the forthcoming elections.

Mrs. Poppay filed her petition Saturday with the county election board at the court house. She is the candidate proposed by a number of local women's organizations which are seeking to elect a woman as member of the local school board.

Three other petitioners have been filed with the election board. They include those of Walter J. Craumer, Fairfield, Democrat, for sheriff; Herbert G. Raab, Gettysburg R. 3, Republican, for judge of elections in Cumberland township and C. E. Fair, Cumberland township, Republican, for inspector of elections.

EKDAHL-JACOBS WEDDING HELD SATURDAY AT 4

In a double-ring ceremony performed in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown, Saturday at 4 p. m., Miss Ruth Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke H. Jacobs, Littlestown, became the bride of Harry G. Ekdahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo Ekdahl, Howard, Pa. The Rev. Wallace J. Cummings, assisted by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, officiated.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown made with sweetheart neckline and a tight fitted bodice embroidered with seed pearls. Her coronet headdress was tipped with seed pearls and from it fell a long veil of imported tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Doris Louise Turnbull, maid of honor for her cousin, was attired in gown of orchid marquisette and carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and carnations.

Organ Recital

Other attendants were Mrs. G. Richard Knipple, Littlestown, sister of the bride, and Miss Carolyn Ekdahl, Philadelphia, sister of the bridegroom. They were matching gowns of aqua marquisette and carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and carnations and wore tiaras of the same flowers in their hair.

Carroll Ekdahl Howard, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers included Luke E. Jacobs, Buffalo, and Richard Knipple, Littlestown.

Artillery Outfit Camps On Battlefield

Seventy-five members of the 110th Field Artillery, Pikesville, Md. under command of Capt. J. P. Cooper, camped over the week-end at Pardee Field on the Gettysburg Battlefield.

The Maryland men arrived Saturday afternoon and returned home Sunday after spending the night in tents and following a trip over the field.

College Donates $200 To Firemen

A donation of $200 by Gettysburg college to the Gettysburg fire company this morning brought to $3,656.76 the gross income so far from the bazaar and food sale, Donald C. Stallsmith, treasurer for the affair, announced.

Several additional donations have been promised, Stallsmith said, which will raise the gross income by several hundred dollars if the promised amounts are given.

tackle the still unsettled contract war between John L. Lewis and the operators.

The Coal Mines Administration folds up with the end of government operation, leaving Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and his conciliation Service the only official connection with the dispute. Schwellenbach will try to mediate a new contract to avert the threat of a full-blown strike eight days hence.

The mines were seized May 22, 1946, after futile efforts to settle a strike which had been in progress since April 1. A week later, Lewis signed a contract with Secretary of the Interior Krug, ending that walkout and sending the 400,000 soft coal miners back to work for Uncle Sam.

Now Lewis and the operators still are at odds over terms of a contract under which the mines could be worked next week. The pits currently are closed down for a 10-day vacation which started Saturday under terms of the Krug-Lewis contract. Each miner got $100 and ten days off.

Foreign Ministers Guests Of French President

French, British and Russian representatives chatted in Elysee Palace, Paris, following a luncheon given by President Vincent Auriol of France, for the Big Three foreign ministers conferring on the Marshall Plan for Europe. Girl Scout Fund $6,809 Short

A donation of $200 from the Gettysburg Lodge of Elks and thirteen other contributions today increased the total of the Adams County Girl Scout campaign for $8,450 to $1,640.50, far short of the amount expected to be received at this date, $6,809.50 more is needed.

A number of industrial plants have not announced their donations as yet and a great many individuals, who expect to assist the Girl Scouts in financing their expansion program have not yet contributed.

Donors announced today include:

Windsor Shoe company, Littlestown, $25; Harris Brothers Department store, Gettysburg, $15; John R. Fidler, Biglerville, Dr. L. L. Potter, Littlestown, Keystone Milling company, Littlestown, R. L. Pittenturf, York Springs, Gettysburg National bank and Ever-Ready Sunday School class, Arendtsville, each $10; Mary Gettys Rebekah lodge, Gettysburg, Howard A. Stone-sifer, Littlestown, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baumgardner, Littlestown, Mr. and Mrs. Guyon Buehler, Gettysburg, and Wayside Flower shop, each $5.

Donations may be sent to the Adams County Girl Scout council, Gettysburg, Mrs. P. J. McGlynn, Biglerville, treasurer, or to any member of the committees or scout leaders.

MORE THAN 350 VISIT HOSPITAL

More than 350 persons visited the Annie M. Warner hospital and the Christian H. Musselman annex Sunday in connection with the official opening of the annex.

Eleven nurses' aides were on duty during the visiting hours in the afternoon and escorted the visitors through the new annex, explaining the various features and new facilities now added to the local institution.

The aides on duty included: Mrs. Winifred Berger, Mrs. Elizabeth Kenworthy, Mrs. Madeleine Killalea, Mrs. Francis Mason, Miss Catherine Motika, Mrs. Catherine Moser, Mrs. Romaine Oyler, Mrs. Orville Riffe, Mrs. G. Marion Stambaugh, Miss Marie Kump and Mrs. Charles Woodward.

Many favorable comments were heard from the visitors who were "surprised" and "amazed" at the completeness of the annex, the beauty of the new building and the many facilities now available for the treatment and comfort of patients.

Each visitor was presented with a booklet, printed in three colors, outlining the main features of the Musselman annex.

CLAIM IS REFUSED

The claim of William L. Kohler, New Oxford, for a portion of the estate of his brother, Philip H. Kohler, as repayment for money paid by the former on his brother's behalf was rejected by the Adams county court in an opinion handed down Saturday. The suit was brought as a result of a claim by the state against Philip Kohler's estate. The court ordered the money paid to the state because more than six years had elapsed since William Kohler advanced the money. Under the statute of limitations, the court held, all actions of debt or assumption must be brought within six years after the cause of action arises and not thereafter.

C.H. Musselman Employes And Families Enjoy First Annual Picnic Saturday Despite Rain

The regular employes of the Biglerville and Gardners plants and the seven farms of the C. H. Musselman company, and their families, refused to let a downpour of rain interfere with their enjoyment of the company's first annual outing at the South Mountain Fair grounds Saturday afternoon. They even played baseball in the rain.

With the pitchers standing in ankle-deep water, and the ball whirling off drops of rain every time it was hit, the Biglerville Canning plant team won the picnic championship from the farm team by a score of 5 to 3. The "mushball" got underway at 2 o'clock with the canners defeating the Gardners plant in the first game, 14 to 5. The Biglerville office team lost, 9 to 7, in the second game won by the farmers.

Members of the "championship" team were: Clair Bucher, Gettys-

HARRISON SHOWS ORDERED CLOSED

Borough police ordered the Harrison Shows, a carnival outfit which occupied the West High street lot last week, closed at 9-15 o'clock Saturday night, Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said today, after one arrest had been made of a woman who operated a gypsy fortune-telling tent.

Harpster said he received a complaint that an Adams county man had been robbed of upwards of $50. The complainant identified Mary Marks, Tulsa, Okla., a fortune teller, as the woman who got the money. Mrs. Marks was arrested, but the complainant failed to appear and file an information, Harpster said.

The larceny charge was dropped and Mrs. Marks was charged with disorderly conduct. She was fined $3 and costs by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Harpster said she did not come here with the Harrison Shows, but arrived Thursday and set up at the rear of the carnival lot. Complaint was also received that the gypsies were trespassing on private property.

Harpster said complaints were received of "local residents causing trouble at the carnival Saturday night. They were ordered from the grounds, but no arrests were made," the officer said.

PAYS FINE AND COSTS

Clarence Wolfe, Cashtown, arrested by state police Saturday night on a disorderly conduct charge on complaint of Maynard Stuckey, manager of the Cashtown Inn, paid a fine of $5 and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION AT YORK SPRINGS

Four persons, two of them Gettysburg college students, were injured at 9 o'clock this morning, in a collision between two automobiles at the intersection of the Gettysburg-Harrisburg and the Hanover-Carlisle roads in York Springs.

Most seriously injured were Patrick J. Moses, New Cumberland, and Hervey Froehlich, Harrisburg, college students. They are patients in the Warner hospital, where x-rays were taken today to determine the extent of their injuries. They suffered multiple lacerations and bruises.

Cars Badly Damaged

Moses and Froehlich were riding in a car operated by Charles B. Schlichter, Harrisburg, which was proceeding south toward Gettysburg. The other car, operated by Bernard Ginsburg, Shaker Heights, Ohio, near Cleveland, was going north on the Carlisle road.

Schlichter and Ginsburg were brought to the hospital here, and discharged after treatment of minor injuries.

Both automobiles were badly damaged. Damage to the Schlichter car was estimated by state police of the Gettysburg sub-station, who investigated the accident, at between $500 and $600, and to the Ginsburg car at $400. The investigation was being continued. No arrests have been made yet.

RELIEF LOAD IN COUNTY CLIMBS OVER MAY LEVEL

An increase in the case load handled by the local Public Assistance office was reported by Mrs. Verna Myers, executive director, at a meeting of the Adams County Board of Assistance Friday evening.

In her report, Mrs. Myers revealed 710 cases as follows for June: Old age, 458; pension for blind, 86; aid to dependent children, 99; general assistance, 67. In May the case loads were as follows: Old age, 455; pensions for blind, 81; aid to dependent children, 97, and general assistance, 52. During June, 1946, there was a total of 672 cases.

Name Senior Typist

Miss June Sanders, 139 East Water street, who graduated from Gettysburg high school this spring, was appointed a senior typist.

The board discussed pending legislation and how it will affect the assistance program.

Mrs. Myers also reported briefly on her two-week course of the Pennsylvania School for Social Workers which was held at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

Attending the meeting were M. Stuart Danner, chairman, J. D. Miller, Harold Reuning, Mrs. R. S. Saby and Mrs. Myers.

The next board meeting will be held Monday, July 14.

COLLEGE GRAD WEDS ATTORNEY

Miss Dorothy Ruth Savacool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Savacool, Perkasie, and Attorney Jesse L. Crabbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crabbs, Hanover, were married Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Hanover. The Rev. Charles A. Murray officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Paul F. Worcester served as matron of honor and James E. Hopkins, Germantown, was the best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Pine Tree Inn, West York, for approximately seventy guests. At the reception, Mrs. John C. Bosenhofer, Perkasie, and Miss L. Louise McDannell, Arendtsville, sang solos. They were both accompanied by John Bosenhofer at the piano.

The bride, a teacher in the Hanover Junior high school, is a graduate of Sellersville-Perkasie high school and Gettysburg college. The bridegroom, assistant district attorney of York county, was graduated from Eichelberger Senior high school, Dickson college and University of Pennsylvania School of Law. He is a veteran of World War II having spent twenty months overseas.

After a trip through the New England states, the couple will live in an apartment at 501 York street, Hanover.

Charles Keller, Shenandoah, Pa., returned to the local Western Union office as manager, a position he held from early January, 1946, until March of this year.

British General Tours Battlefield

Brigadier General Huxley, of the British Army staff, accompanied by Mrs. Huxley visited Gettysburg and toured the battlefield Sunday afternoon. They were escorted over the field by Homer Buehl, guide. General Huxley told Mr. Buehl he was "much impressed with the beauty of the battlefield, the excellent manner in which it was marked and the completeness of the area over which two great armies once fought."

General Huxley is on a special assignment to this country for two weeks. He is stationed in Washington while in this country.

MISS WALTER AND C. R. HIKES WED SATURDAY

Miss Louise Elizabeth Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gift H. Walter, Biglerville R. 2, and Clair Robert Hikes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hikes, Gardners R. 1, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville. The Rev. George Berkheimer, the bride's pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. H. Walter Webner, pastor of Advent Lutheran church, York, a cousin of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with a full length train, seeded pearl sweetheart neckline, and bodice trimmed with seeded pearls. Her closely fitted sleeves ended at a point at the wrists. Her fingertip veil was shaped to her head with a tiara of pearl covered orange blossoms, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white snapdragons and stephanotis with an inverted orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Jane Guise, Arendtsville, a high school classmate, wore a gown of pink marquisette over taffeta, with a sweetheart neckline. Her colonial bouquet was of blue delphinium and pink carnations, which also formed the tiara which was used as a headdress.

Mississippi Climbs To New 103-Yr. Record At St. Louis

St. Louis, June 30 (AP) — The Mississippi river climbed to a new 103-year record here today and U.S. Army engineers warned that the battle for two remaining "critical" levees in this area was "far from over" with another crest pouring down from the mouth of the Missouri river.

A brief earthquake at 11:25:14 p. m. (EST) yesterday brought the threat of breaks to watersoaked barriers holding back the river from thousands of acres of rich farmland on the Illinois side but the engineers said no levees were reported damaged by the tremors which lasted about five seconds.

The Chouteau island levee, guarding 2,000 acres across from north St. Louis, broke at two points today but engineers said other barriers would keep water out of the nearby Venice and Granite City industrial areas.

Fresh appeals for volunteers were made by the engineers in their efforts to save dikes south of East St. Louis and 100 miles south at Chester, Ill., while hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes ahead of the flood.

The river reached 39.3 feet here and Harry F. Wahlgren, chief meteorologist, predicted the stage

PRISONERS IN JAIL ARE MOVED TO HARRISBURG

Adams county today moved its prisoners to Harrisburg.

Acting on an order from Charles R. Barber, state Department of Welfare secretary, Sheriff John E. Millhimes and Deputy Sheriff Blaine E. Bixler today transported the 16 prisoners in the county jail to the Dauphin County prison.

Barber's order, directing the transfer, became effective Saturday when the county court signed its approval to a petition that the men be moved out of the state-condemned county prison here.

Eight of the prisoners were removed to Harrisburg this morning in two cars which left for Dauphin county at 9 o'clock. This afternoon the second group of eight prisoners was moved.

As a result, late this afternoon, the county, for probably the first time in its history, was without prisoners.

Formal Agreement

Since no other arrangements have been made by the county commissioners, it was expected that all prisoners sentenced or held for court by justices of the peace would be brought to the county jail and taken from there immediately by the sheriff to Harrisburg.

Whether or not the commissioners may make some other arrangements at their meeting Wednesday was not known today although Commissioners' Clerk Clarence C. Smith said that it was probable the commissioners would discuss the matter Wednesday.

The formal agreement between the Board of Prison Inspectors of Dauphin county and the Adams county commissioners under which the Adams prisoners are to be kept in the Dauphin county jail arrived this morning at the office of the county commissioners. At a meeting of the commissioners and the Dauphin prison board previously the two groups agreed to move the Adams (Please Turn to Page 7)

SIX MOTORISTS PAY CODE FINES

Eva Jane Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1, paid a fine of $2 and costs on a charge of driving a car which did not have an inspection sticker placed before Justice of the Peace Leo Storm, Bonneville, by state police.

Others announced by state police today as paying fines on charges include:

Philip Walker, Somerset, $10 and costs for following too closely before Justice Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown.

John V. McIntire, York, $10 and costs on an improper pass charge before Justice Storm.

Paul C. Sandrus, Carnegie, $10 and costs for failing to keep to the right of the highway before Justice Storm.

Joseph Orlandi, Ashland, W. Va., $10 and costs before Justice George Baker, Abbottstown, for speeding.

R. E. Sheeler, Downingtown, $10 and costs before Justice Storm for improper parking.

TREAT LOCAL OFFICER

Borough Police Officer Ralph L. Fissel was taken to the Warner hospital for treatment this morning for a severe nosebleed.

Francis Thomas Is Unhurt In Crash

Francis Thomas, Gettysburg, escaped injury but caused considerable property damage when he drove off the Lincoln highway onto the property of Ernst Bischoff, York R. 1, early Sunday morning.

Trees and shrubs on the Bischoff property suffered some $500 damage Bischoff said, while damage to Thomas' car was slight, according to state police at York.

COOLER TODAY

Local temperatures were lower today, with the thermometer just touching the 80 mark at noon, after soaring to 85 Sunday. During the night the weather remained hot, with the low for the night being 69.

MINISTERS IN SESSION AGAIN

Paris, June 30 (AP) — The foreign ministers of France, Britain and Russia met late today in a critical third session which may decide whether Europe can organize economic cooperation transcending political and ideological differences.

The three convened at 4:10 p. m. (10:10 a. m., EST).

Informal sources said there was no agreement between Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on one side and Britain's Ernest Bevin and France's Georges Bidault on the other concerning the Marshall aid-Europe plan.

These informants predicted a showdown, saying the French and the British planned to restate their proposals for European economic recovery after week-end disclosure of the Russian view that the task of the conference was merely to decide the amount of financial aid needed from the United States and whether such aid could be obtained under the proposal advanced by Secretary of State Marshall.

French sources said the foreign ministers were confronted with a virtual impasse and saw little hope of their reaching agreement.

POLICE TO SEEK FOR CIGARETTES

The Gettysburg sub-station of the state police has been notified that it is to check the Maryland border to see that no one cheats Pennsylvania of its four-cent cigarette tax, police reported here today.

Copies of the new act prohibiting anyone from bringing more than 199 untaxed cigarettes at a time across the border were distributed to the local police this morning together with orders to begin a check.

Just how soon the local policemen will begin to search cars to determine whether there are any illegal fags in the machines was not known, and the local state policemen refused to divulge the information.

Whether "fag runners" would try to bring $1.29-a-carton cigarettes from the District of Columbia into $1.89-a-carton Pennsylvania via the underground was not known.

Police Probing Sale Of Razors

Two men in a Chevrolet coupe bearing Michigan license plates, stopped at a gasoline service station on Buford avenue operated by Edward Culp, Saturday afternoon, and attempted to sell an electric razor valued at $18, for $6, according to a report made to borough police.

Investigation revealed, police said, that the men also stopped at the Cities Service station on Buford avenue, and sold two razors to patrons of the gas station. They left there and drove west on the Lincoln highway, according to the report. The matter was turned over to state police for investigation.

Hospital Report

Maurice Gastley, 54 Railroad street, was treated at the Warner hospital Saturday evening for deep lacerations of the left thumb and wrist. He was injured when he fell against the bumper of a car owned by his brother, Harvey Gastley.

The following were operated upon this morning for the removal of their tonsils: William Kint, Gettysburg R. 2; Donald Baker, Jr., Biglerville R. 2; Vesta Elizabeth Null, Taneytown; Malcolm Imler, Gettysburg R. 2; Gary Wolfe, Littlestown R. 1; Betty Pickles, Orrtanna R. 1, Ray Kitzmiller, Seminary avenue.

Other admissions include Mrs. Charles M. Ecker, Littlestown R. 1; Charles Rinehart, Taneytown; Mrs. Edwin Rice, Ardenstville; Mrs. Ervin H. Martin, Thomasville R. 1; Mrs. Jennie Lupp, Aspers R. D.; Mrs. Bernard Ott, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Lloyd Cromer, 118 York street; Mrs. Kermit Lowe, Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Robert Condon, Blue Ridge Summit. Those discharged were Veronica Weishaar, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. Esther Wolf, Littlestown R. 2; Mrs. Alton Wierman, Ardenstville; Mrs. Roland Hess and infant son, Kenneth Robert, 244 York street; Raymond Twomey, 333 Baltimore street; Mrs. Thomas Ziegler and infant son, John Martin, 309 Baltimore street; Walter Lind, Ladiesburg, Md.; Mrs. Donald Little, Gettysburg R. 2; Mrs. Newell Wright, Littlestown R. 2; Russell Baker, Fairfield R. 2; George Barnett, Chambersburg; Mrs. Kenneth Benner, Littlestown; Mrs. Steven Miller and infant son, Kenneth Stephen, Biglerville R. 2; Evelyn Shealer, Gettysburg R. 4; Mrs. Lloyd Kiser and infant daughter, Barbara Ann, Taneytown R. 2; Thomas Cline, Aspers; Mrs. Joe McGlaughlin, Railroad street; Patricia Young, Westminster; Phyllis Wall, 233 Buford avenue, and Merle Grim, Abbottstown.

Girl, 4, Credited With Saving Mother

Pittsburgh, June 30 (AP) — A four-year-old girl who called a hotel operator to say "mommie is sick," today was credited with saving the life of her young mother who had swallowed a mixture of cleaning fluid, shoe polish and ink.

Police Sgt. Leo Walsh said Mrs. Jean Prager, 22, was treated at Allegheny hospital and released pending a morals court hearing tomorrow on disorderly conduct charges.

Walsh said Mrs. Prager blamed her dependency on inability to find a place for her and her daughter, Linda. A note left in the hotel room read:

"I am sorry things ended this way but I tried for the last three days for a room and all I hear is we don't want any kids. What must I do, hang her on a tree?"

Weddings

Schmidt-Keister

Friday, July 25, has been chosen by Miss Ann Keister, daughter of Clinton L. Keister, Harrisburg, as the date for her marriage to Robert Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Schmidt, of Paxtang.

The ceremony will be performed at 11 o'clock in the morning in the chapel of Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, with Monsignor Joseph Schmidt, uncle of the bridegroom, officiating. Mr. Keister will give his daughter in marriage and the attendants will be Miss Frances Keister, the bride's sister, and Mr. Schmidt, father of the bridegroom.

A reception for the two families will follow at Hotel Gettysburg.

Miss Keister attended Selzer School and the Convent of the Holy Child in Suffern, N. Y. She is a member of the Harrisburg Junior League. Her fiancé attended Catholic high school and Mount St. Mary's college at Emmitsburg, and is now a student at Dickinson Law School in Carlisle.

Crouse-Mears

Catherine V. Mears, Philadelphia, became the bride of Charles Philip Crouse, Philadelphia, son of the late Dr. H. S. Crouse, and Mrs. Crouse, Littlestown, in a ceremony performed Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. H. S. Crouse, South Queen street, Littlestown. The ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was performed by Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. The attendants were a brother and sister of the groom, H. Kenneth Crouse, Pikesville, and Mrs. Charles Ritter, Littlestown. The couple will reside in Philadelphia.

Peters-Wolff

Miss Marion Janet Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey E. Wolff, Table Rock, was united in marriage with Donald Taylor Peters, son of Mrs. Edna G. Peters and the late Robert D. Peters, Benderville, last Friday evening at 9 o'clock in the Lutheran parsonage at Biglerville by the Rev. H. W. Sternat. The double ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was used.

The bride wore a pink crepe dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Peters is a graduate of Biglerville high school, class of 1944. She is employed in the office of the Department of Property and Supplies at the Capitol building, Harrisburg.

Mr. Peters graduated from Biglerville high school in the class of 1939. He served during World War II for three and a half years in the United States Marine Corps. He is at present enrolled as a student in The Eccles College of Mortuary Science, Philadelphia.

Immediately after the service the couple left for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination.

DEATHS

Jerome Henry Groft

Jerome Henry Groft, 86, New Oxford R. 1, Mount Misery, died Saturday morning at 12:20 o'clock after a lingering illness of three years. He had been bedfast for three months. He was the son of the late George and Anna (Storm) Groft. His wife, Mrs. Annie (Smith) Groft, died in 1897. Mr. Groft was a cigar maker and has been retired for the past 15 years. He was a member of Conewago chapel and the Irishtown fire company.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Staub, New Oxford R. 1, and Mrs. Violet Henschke, with whom he lived; 14 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the late residence at 8:30 o'clock this morning with a mass following at 9 o'clock in Conewago chapel. The Rev. Harold Keller officiated. Interment was in Conewago cemetery.

Services for Mrs. Glenn

The funeral of Mrs. Ella M. Glenn, widow of Dr. James E. Glenn, who died in a Lancaster hospital last Thursday, was held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield. Mrs. Glenn died from the effects of a stroke, the Rev. Dr. Norman Wolf, Fairfield Lutheran pastor, officiated. Interment was made in Fairfield Union cemetery.

The pallbearers were Lewis and Glenn Polley, Frank Moore, Howard Harbaugh, D. P. Polley, George McGlaughlin, Robert Neely and Lee McGlaughlin.

NO ESTIMATES FROM RUSSIANS

Lake Success, June 30 (AP) — A reliable informant said the Soviet delegation had declined to submit an estimate to the United Nations military staff committee today on the size of the proposed global police force.

It was understood that the United States, Britain and France had offered individual estimates calling for a force ranging from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 men.

The informant said China submitted no figures of her own but was expected to support one of these estimates or a Big Five majority view on the question.

The generals and admirals on the Big Five power military committee met here this morning with the Soviet delegation in attendance. The Russians had walked out of the last military staff committee meeting here June 20 in disagreement over a question of procedure and a majority-supported ruling of U. S. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, committee chairman.

The estimates were being drafted into a report for presentation at a 3 p. m. (EDT) meeting of the Security Council, which would command the force.

PAIR SUICIDES ON COMMUNISM

Phoenixville, Pa., June 30 (AP) — A quarrel over Communism ended in double suicide for a much-decorated Army Air Force pilot and his 63-year-old father.

Police Chief Fred K. MacInnis identified the dead as Michael Souch, a worker at the Phoenix iron works; and his son, Charles, 26-year-old former army captain who flew 265 fighter missions in Europe and China.

MacInnis, in reconstructing the shootings, said the two men began quarreling over the merits of capitalism and communism in a dispute over family financial matters.

"You don't know anything about communism," MacInnis said several guests in the house heard young Souch tell his father.

A clash of views followed, then the ex-flyer smashed a model airplane with his fist and shouted:

"So this is what I fought for—this democracy."

Then, MacInnis said, he took a 32-caliber German war souvenir gun and walked out on the porch. The father followed him. A moment later there was a shot.

Lewis Hegadus of Johnstown, Pa., a cousin of Michael Souch, said he rushed out on the porch in time to see the youth's father pick up the gun and fatally shoot himself.

News Briefs

Washington, June 30 (AP) — A Republican plan to avoid further Senate debate on controversial foreign policy issues seems likely today to postpone until next year any final decision on the administration's proposal to standardize western hemisphere arms.

Republican leaders have passed the word quietly to party colleagues that they have no present intention of bringing any new major foreign policy question before the Senate before the scheduled adjournment July 26.

Jerusalem, June 30 (AP) — Continuing acts of violence in the Holy land, which claimed the lives of four British soldiers over the weekend, earned the condemnation today of the United Nations Palestine Inquiry commission.

The commission adopted a resolution at a special session last night denouncing the series of incidents which have occurred since the group arrived here two weeks ago, but declined to take any direct action. Nine of the 11 members voted for the resolution, with the Australian and Indian members abstaining.

Devon, Conn., June 30 (AP) — Five year old Russell Thomas of New Haven is alive today because another bather in the Devon park pond stepped on him.

Surrounded by scores of other bathers, the child, son of Mrs. Lillian Thomas, apparently sank unnoticed to the bottom of the pond, yesterday. Russell Hansen, 24, of Hamden, entering the pond, stumbled and, seeking the cause, found the child's body, brought it ashore and administered artificial respiration.

Washington, June 30 (AP) — Congressional Republicans, as well as Democrats, freely predicted today that President Truman would sign — probably before nightfall — the new rent control bill with its 15 per cent permissive increases.

But while forecasting acceptance of the legislation on a this-or-nothing basis, one administration supporter in the House said privately he looked for the president to send a highly critical message to Congress.

Taneytown R. D.; Mrs. Frank Stone-sent, Littlestown; Mrs. George Sifer, Taneytown R. D.

Services took place from the Puss funeral home, Taneytown, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Elder Birnie Shriner. Interment in the Unionville Methodist cemetery.

Upper Communities

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Quigle, Benderville, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turner and son Roger, Hershey, returned Friday evening after a five week-trip to the west coast and Mexico. They traveled 9,500 miles and went through 21 states. Among the places of interest visited were the Sequoia, Yosemite and Yellowstone national parks, Boulder Dam and Grand Canyon.

The Youth group of the Wenksville community will hold a wiener roast at the home of Louise and Joyce Stoner, Thursday evening. Dean McCauslin and Maurice Black will be in charge of the devotional period. Recreation is in charge of Alice Weaner and Louene Black.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slaybaugh, of Biglerville, accompanied by Reuben Slaybaugh, of Center Mills, left Saturday on a week's trip to Huntington, Indiana, where they will visit friends and relatives. Enroute they stopped at Goshen, Indiana, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kreider. Mrs. Kreider, the former Miss Evelyn Burkholder, was at one time a member of the teaching staff of the Biglerville schools. Mr. and Mrs. Slaybaugh will be joined at Huntington by their son, Theodore, who will accompany them home after completing the year's work as a student at Huntington college.

Prof. Charles L. Yost, head of the music department of Biglerville schools, requests that all members of the Ardenstville high school band and of both the junior and senior bands of Biglerville high school report to the auditorium Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. At that time a representative of the Don Eneix band uniform company will be present to take measurements for new uniforms.

The Biglerville high school E.F.A. club will meet Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. After a mullish game and business session, refreshments will be served.

Dr. Harold Heiges has returned to Washington, D. C., after a visit with his mother, Mrs. E. Dale Heiges, of Biglerville. Mrs. Heiges and two children will remain in Biglerville for a short time.

The Rev. J. Clair Peters, of Huntington, Indiana, visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slaybaugh, of Biglerville, last Friday. The Rev. Mr. Peters, who was formerly of Biglerville, is general manager of the United Brethren Publishing establishment in Huntington.

Miss Mary Auvil, head of the Home Economics department of Biglerville high school, left Saturday to spend the summer vacation at her home at Noxen.

Miss Lena Boyer, of Biglerville, transacted business in Philadelphia today.

Tom Enck, who had spent a several weeks' vacation with his mother, Mrs. Warren K. Enck, of Biglerville, left Sunday to resume his studies at The Citadel, Charleston, North Carolina.

Miss Nancy Arnold and Tommy Arnold, of Biglerville, are spending the week at Hershey with their father, Ralph E. Arnold, of Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyer and son, Larry, and daughter, Harriet, of Biglerville, are spending the week at Dayton, Virginia, with Mrs. Boyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simmers.

Among those from the county who attended the annual meeting of the Appalachian Apple Service which was held at the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, last Friday were John Peters, of Aspers, who was one of the speakers for the day, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lott, Gardners R. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lott, Miss Mary Boyer and Mrs. Martha Boyer Lower, Biglerville R. D.; Mrs. K. Large McGee, of Orrtanna; H. G. Baugher, of Aspers; M. T. Hartman, of Gettysburg; A. J. Carbaugh and Harvey B. Raffensperger, of Ardenstville, and John A. Hauser, of Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Tuckey, of Los Angeles, Calif., were overnight guests of Miss Anna Black, of Florida Dale, Saturday. Mrs. Tuckey was a class mate of Miss Black's at the Millersville State Teachers' college. Mr. Tuckey is a member of the staff of the engineering department of the University of Southern California.

Peter Shetter has sold a property at Center Mills to Nile Little of Heidlersburg.

The Women's Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church, Ardenstville, will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Blaine Bushey with Miss Mildred Bushey as the leader.

Tom Yost, who is spending the summer vacation with his parents, Prof. and Mrs. Charles L. Yost, Biglerville, R. D., after completing the second year's work as a student at the University of Pennsylvania, will transfer to Lock Haven State Teachers' college next year to major in physical education.

Things Of The Soil

WHEN RABBITS DAMAGE CROPS

Cottontail rabbits are found in every state and occasionally occur in sufficient numbers to constitute a menace to certain succulent crops in summer and young fruit trees in winter. At this season of the year many readers complain that rabbits enter their gardens and feed on lettuce, cabbage and several other winter vegetables. Of course, such victims of these otherwise gentle animals ask—"How can I protect my crops?"

Rabbits of this small species breed several times each year during warmer months, the litters averaging five to six young. Hawks, eagles, several species of owl, foxes, minks, weasels and dogs and cats take a heavy toll from the rabbit population, yet despite these inroads their breeding habits keep them in fairly large numbers throughout farming communities. Too, hunters take a heavy "kill" each year. Most states permit farmers and gardeners to trap, shoot and otherwise destroy rabbits even when the animals are protected by game laws, providing the invaders are damaging crops. Citizens should always determine their rights under this phase of local and state regulations.

It is seldom wise or safe to employ poisons as a means of reducing rabbit numbers, excepting where large invasions are encountered, such as that of the famous jack rabbit of the plains regions.

Trapping may be practiced, preferably with the humane "box" or figure-4 trigger trap. Most boys are familiar with this trap and know how to build it at home from inexpensive materials. There are also several simple traps made from ordinary drainage tiles.

In most cases where rabbits are ravaging garden crops the most effective and least expensive means of defense is to erect a rabbit-proof fence. Such a fence bars other intruding animals and fowls and thereby serves numerous profitable purposes. To shut out rabbits a woven wire is necessary, preferably a 1½-inch mesh, 2½ to 3 feet high. Cottontail rabbits rarely burrow to penetrate fenced areas.

Young apple trees are a favorite winter food for rabbits when snow covers the ground and denies them access to other foods. Of course, pear, quince and other deciduous fruit trees may be attacked, but apparently the rabbit prefers apple trees. Perhaps close-mesh woven wire is the best protector. In recent years several repellent washes have been devised and tried, some proving successful from the standpoint of solving the rabbit problem, but occasionally proving injurious to the trees. Heavy paper has been widely used in this role but many readers complain that rabbits sometimes tear the paper away and feed on the trees anyway.

Strewing apple prunings over and around the orchard area in early winter merits some claim as a means of reducing rabbit ravages. Too, many farmers grow extra cabbage and bury the heads to feed rabbits when snow covers the ground. They reason that it is cheaper to feed the animals than to protect their young fruit trees by other measures. This leaves the cottontails accessible for hunting and trapping for food. But of course, any practice that increases the rabbit population over winter aggravates the gardener's problem in summer. Perhaps the sounder program would be to keep the animals reduced reasonably around the entire year.

AT DAIRY CONFERENCE

Harrison F. Snyder, head of the Adams County Agricultural Adjustment Administration office and the AAA clerks, Mrs. Marie McGlaughlin and Mrs. Marguerite Sheads, attended the Dairy conference held last week at Erie.

GETS 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

William Harris, Gettysburg R. D., arrested June 23 on a vagrancy charge by state police of the Gettysburg sub-station, was sentenced to six months in jail by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Saturday afternoon. He had been confined in the Warner hospital for several days following his arrest.

TIGERS BACK AS NEWHOUSER WHIPS BROWNS

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)

Detroit's tough luck Tigers are back in the running today mainly on account of Hal Newhouser's inexplicable jinx over the St. Louis Browns.

Prince Hal, the number one left-hander in the American league, is no soft touch for anybody, but as far as the Browns are concerned, he is practically unbeatable.

Muddy Ruel's cellar dwellers bowed to Newhouser's southpaw slants for the 15th straight time yesterday as the Tigers took both ends of the doubleheader 7-5 and 6-1.

In winning their fourth straight at home, the injury-riddled Bengals climbed into a third-place tie with the Philadelphia Athletics. They trail the pace-setting New York Yankees by six games. The Tigers were beaten ten straight times on their last eastern road trip to drop from the league lead into fifth place.

Elliott Batting Star
Billy Southworth, astute manager of the Boston Braves, who changes lineups practically with the shifting winds, allowed only one player, Bob Elliott, to play his position through both games with the Philadelphia Phils.

And Elliott it was who drove in the winning run in the first game and who was the batting star of the second as the Braves beat the Phils twice 6-7 in 10 innings and 4-2.

The twin victory enabled the Braves to move into first place in the National league pennant race, a half game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers who split with the Giants in New York.

Although Jackie Robinson enjoyed his best day as a major leaguer, the Dodgers could not get better than a split with the Giants before 52,147 fans at the Polo Grounds. Brooklyn won the first 4-3 and lost the second 9-5. Robby drove in the tying run with a ninth inning single in the opener and scored the winning run on Arky Vaughan's pinch single after he had stolen second. The Negro flash got four hits in five times at bat in the second game to extend his hitting streak to 16 consecutive games.

Slaughter Again
Cincinnati and St. Louis split a twin bill, the Reds winning the opener 9-7 after piling up an 8-1 lead and the Cards coming back to bury Cincinnati 17-2 in the second game. The teams banded a total of 44 hits in the two games which saw Enos Slaughter, the Cards' star left fielder, drive in 10 runs, seven in the second game.

Kirby Higbe won his 100th major league game when he pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-4 win over the Cubs in Chicago.

Boston fandom, overjoyed at the Braves' climb into first place in the National, was somewhat sobered by the Red Sox' double setback at the hands of the Athletics 3-2 and 6-5. Ted Williams bashed his 13th four-bagger for the Red Sox in the finale.

Four Chicago White Sox hurlers held the Cleveland Indians to four hits to register a 4-3 victory in the opener of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed by rain. The defeat dropped the Indians into fifth place.

The Yankees and Senators split a doubleheader in Washington, the Nats winning the opener 5-1 and the Yankees taking the second game 3-1. The split enabled the Yanks to increase their first-place lead over the runner-up Red Sox to four and a half games.

Gridders Meet, Elect Treasurer

Harrisburg, June 30 (AP)—Warren Hildebrand, of Pottsville, is the new treasurer of the Pennsylvania professional football league and the Pottsville Maroons are still members of the rapidly expanding grid circuit. Hildebrand was elected to his new post yesterday after Herb Noakes of Mahanoy City resigned. Shortly before the election Hildebrand posted forfeit money to assure the appearance of the Maroons for another year of pro football.

Harrisburg's new franchise was also officially admitted into the circuit, and an Eastern division of seven clubs formed, including the York White Roses, Buccaneers; Lancaster All-Stars; Panther Valley Big Green; Shenandoah Presidents; Harrisburg and Pottsville.

Another meeting of the league is scheduled at Harrisburg July 13 when Western division members will be required to post forfeit money.

Yesterdays Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Batting—Pete Suder and Farris Pain—Suder hit his first home run of the season to defeat the Red Sox 3-2 in the opener; Pain hit an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded to give the A's a second game victory 6-5.

Pitching—Bill Voiselle, Braves—With only one full day of rest after pitching against the Dodgers last Friday night, the former Giant right-hander held the Phils to only five hits in defeating them 4-2.

The first railroad Diesel locomotive went into regular service 13 years ago.

York Barbell Club Wins National Title

Chicago, June 30 (AP)—The barbell club of York, Pa., is National AAU senior weightlifting titleholders for the 16th consecutive time.

Chambersburg, Pa., and Southern California association of Los Angeles tied for second in the two-day meet which closed yesterday.

John Davis gave York its final three points by totaling 920 pounds to retain his heavyweight title. Joe Pitman of Chambersburg won the 145-pound division with a total of 705 by getting 215 for the press, 215 for the snatch and 275 for the jerk.

4 TEAMS MISS ALL-STAR POLL

Chicago, June 30 (AP)—Six of the eight clubs in each league are represented in the American and National league starting lineups selected by baseball fans for the 14th annual all-star game in Chicago's Wrigley Field July 8.

A total of 1,973,493 ballots was cast in the poll. The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns failed to place starters in the American league, and the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates missed out in the National.

The lineups and votes:

Next Sunday's Game

All-Star game at Cashtown.

A three-way tie for first place exists in the South Penn Baseball league as a result of games played Sunday afternoon.

Bonneauville, behind the two-hit pitching of Topper, blanked Heidersburg, to become a member of the triple-tie group. Weigle and Slaybaugh hurled for Heidersburg.

Wenksville nipped Cashtown 6-1 at Cashtown to pull into a tie with Cashtown and Bonneauville for the lead. Naylor twirled for the winners with Bream and Kump dividing the pitching for the losers.

Ken Knox pitched the Gettysburg team to a 6-3 victory over Barlow. He kept 10 hits well scattered. J. Heiser gave up eight hits for Barlow.

In the fourth game on the schedule Brushtown downed Granite 9-4. Games originally scheduled for next Sunday have been moved back until July 27. Next Sunday a league All-Star game will be played on the Cashtown diamond.

Oil City, Erie and Vandergrift—in that order—remain in the top three positions of the Middle Atlantic league.

While Erie was splitting with Uniontown yesterday, Vandergrift pulled to within two games of Oil City by defeating the Refiners 10-0 on the strength of righthander Bill Smith's four-hit masterpiece.

Erie, now 1½ games back of Oil City, had no trouble defeating Uniontown 10-3 in the first game of a twin bill but in the seven-inning second game the Coal Barons scored all of their runs in the final stanza to win 4-2. The big blow was Al Vendittos' home run, coming with two men on after three consecutive singles had scored one marker.

Meanwhile, Niagara Falls turned in a 16-15 win over Johnstown in a weird 11-inning game and Youngstown edged Butler 4-3. League statisticians hurriedly scanned league record books to see if shortstop Al Leap of Johnstown, had set a new mark with six errors. His final miscue in the 11th paved the way for the Niagara Falls win.

Shine Richardson's three-run homer in the fourth inning and his double in the next stanza accounted for all of Youngstown's runs.

In Saturday's games Johnstown swamped Niagara Falls 17-3. Erie turned back Uniontown 10-5. Oil City scored five runs in the eighth inning to defeat, Vandergrift 10-7 and Youngstown trimmed Butler 4-7.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: The residents of Lincoln avenue were greatly excited on Monday evening over the appearance of a supposed mad dog. The dog made its escape.

George W. Chritzman, formerly of this place, now living in Westminster, Md., is building a house on West Main street in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Dougherty, of York street, entertained their Sunday school classes on Tuesday, composed of 18 of our little ladies and gentlemen of St. James Lutheran church.

A Social will be held in the M. E. church on Friday evening, July 9th, for the benefit of the Epworth League. The Physical Culture Drill given by the delegates of the Loyal Temperance Legion at Mechanicsburg, will be one of the attractions. Everyone is welcome.

Marriages: Baker-Harr.—June 24, at the bride's home, by Rev. David H. Baker, William P. Baker, of Hamilton township, to Miss Susie A. Harr, of York county.

Shetron-Winand.—June 29, at the bride's home, by Rev. Orville V. Long, Wilbert A. Shetron to Miss Tillie E. Winand, both of Huntingtown township.

Young-Miller.—June 25, in this place, by Rev. A. R. Steck, Israel R. Young to Miss Rebecca Miller, both of Hamilton township.

Convention State Loyal Temperance Legion: The Sixth Annual Convention of the State Loyal Temperance Legion met at Mechanicsburg June 23d to 25th.

The delegates from the Gettysburg Senior Legion were: Misses Hattie Johns, Margaret McMillan, Pauline Wisotzki, Lillie Daugherty, Gertrude Hunter, Belle Griffith, Jane Shields, Sarah Welty, Grace Ziegler and Blanche Troxel; Messrs. Montfort Melchior, Edgar Stallsmith, Edgar Tawney, Roy Daugherty, Millard Tawney and Guy Wisotzki. The delegates were accompanied by Mrs. Frances H. Walter, their County Superintendent. . . . The Gettysburg delegation was one of the largest present and the members were complimented on their physical culture drill, led by Miss McMillan, which, by request, was repeated on Friday evening.

Montfort Melchior, president of the Gettysburg Senior Legion, read a very good paper on "The Model Senior L. T. L., How to Conduct It."

His Fourth Birthday: J. Lynn Sheads, the bright and interesting little son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sheads, East Middle street, celebrated his fourth birthday Monday evening by entertaining fifty-four of his little associates. Master Lynn received quite a lot of presents from his little friends.

Corner Stone Laid: The corner stone of the Memorial United Brethren church was laid on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Rev. S. N. Moyer, pastor of the U. B. church at Bolling Springs, assisted by Rev. Clippinger, of Taneytown, Md., and Rev. H. C. Allen, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, of this place.

Queen Victoria's Jubilee: On Tuesday the festivities commemorating the completion of the sixtieth year of the reign of Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and now Empress of India, were celebrated in England with great pomp and solemnity.

This event which has been spoken of as the "Diamond Jubilee," and the like of which has perhaps never before occurred in the world's history, became a matter of universal interest.

On Saturday the celebration came to an end with a naval review off Spithead, which magnificently demonstrated Great Britain's strength on the sea.

Personal Mention: Mrs. E. S. Crawford and daughter left Tuesday afternoon on a special train for Buena Vista where they expect to spend some time.

Misses Beulah and Esther Tipton are visiting friends at Altoona.

Today's Talk

A LOVING RAPTURE

I shall never cease to wonder at the beauty, the fragrance, and the personality of flowers. Even the simplest and tiniest seem to me unearthly. But here they are, ever visiting us and whispering their notes of silent song and their words of joy and cheer, echoing the voice of immortality to us all.

Few poets or writers have ever written in the appreciative mood that Mary Webb, the English writer, did. Walter de la Mare says, in an introduction to a book of her poems and nature essays, that she looked upon nature and upon flowers with "a loving rapture," and upon this world as "a place of almost unbearable wonder."

Mary Webb dressed in an exquisite gown of words everything of beauty that touched her senses and her eye. Take this description: "When a cherry blossom falls down the chequered steps of the tree, a little mournful shadow goes with her." And this description, as she went into the meadow at evening to watch the white clover prepare its sleep for the night: "As the light falls, the two lower leaves on each stalk gently approach one another—like little hands that were going to clasp, but thought better of it—and at last lie folded quietly, as if for prayer."

If people would dismiss God, they would have to dismiss all Nature, all beauty and all wonder. They would have to explain the perfection of the seasons, the exactness of the solar system, and the reason for every substance in the earth for man's sustenance and joy. Long ago I came across these beautiful lines:

"The very flowers, that bend and meet, in sweetening others,
Grow more sweet."

Beauty always shares. How responsive and unresisting are the leaves to the wind, and how impartial every flower is of its scented perfume. I do not believe with the poet that it wastes "its sweetness on the desert air." Nor do I believe that even a kind thought, though unuttered, is ever totally wasted. Even that becomes imbedded for a greater purpose later on.

All through life this "loving rapture" can be cultivated and enriched in us all, so that everything of beauty may become a thrilling experience.

RAIN AND SHINE

There was a time we prayed for rain. There will be time and time again. As Riley said, we should rejoice: "When God sends rain, why rain's my choice."

Love man, in verse that none forgets. Proclaimed: "It's raining violets." This year he'd make a different guess.

And sing: "It's raining water cress."

Should hot and dry the summer turn

And every green thing brown and burn.

Some poet, proof against despair. May mop his brow and gasp for air. And say, the long drought merely means

The sun is turning out baked beans. For poets brave of heart must be. And good in all things try to see.

Yet, rain or shine or cold or hot. The weather is man's common lot. That rich and poor alike must share

And with good patience try to bear. If man the weather could arrange. And just to suit his purpose change. Bid rain to fall or shine to cease. We'd never have a moment's peace.

Purple Heart Vets Of Penna. Elect

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 30 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Department of the military order of the Purple Heart has a new president today. He is Tom Williams, of Wilkes-Barre.

Others elected at the group's 14th annual state convention Saturday included:

Junior vice-commanders, Frank Heide, Harrisburg; Judge advocate, Judge T. Lums Hoban, Scranton; sergeant at arms, Michael Martzen, Hazleton; national executive committeeman, Luther G. Smith, Harrisburg.

Capt. William Hayes, of Scranton, was elected senior vice-president of the auxiliary.

CHOOSE EARLY VARIETIES FOR SUMMER SOWING

Every gardener grows early vegetables in the spring; but to start these same varieties in midsummer and enjoy their delicious freshness in the fall entitles you to be considered an amateur of exceptional skill.

Yet to do this requires no difficult physical feats, merely a few mental adjustments. Those who fail, can blame it in poor staff work. The first mistake likely to be made, is to sow late varieties of vegetables, late in the season.

This is wrong, because the varieties which seed catalogues describe as late, give a late harvest. If your catalogue gives the day of maturity, or table condition, you will note that the "late" ones take longest to mature. Instead of being sown late, they should usually be sown with the first crops, or shortly thereafter; but they may take twice as long as the early ones to reach the harvest.

Allow More Time . . . Crops sown in the summer must mature before freezing; and therefore the faster they grow, the longer you will be able to harvest them in the fall. Growth is always slower in the summer and fall than in the spring. First hot, dry, weather, then the shortening daylight tends to slow down growth. Since catalogue maturity dates are based upon spring sowing, you must expect summer sowings to take from a quarter to a third more time.

Therefore choose the earliest varieties, the fastest growing ones, for late sowing. And take special precautions in sowing them. The time to sow is directly related to the maturity dates. With slow growing crops, such as Chinese cabbage, which are best grown for fall harvest, it is necessary to allow at least three months to maturity.

Check Frost Dates . . . Before planning your summer sowing schedule, check up local weather records to learn the average date of the first killing frost in the fall. Your late crops should be sown early enough to allow two or three weeks harvest before this date.

With radishes, lettuce and any other vegetables that dislike hot weather, best results will usually be obtained by sowing after the peak temperatures have passed. Usually in August the turn of the season comes, after which there are more frequent rains, and cooler nights, while the days grow noticeably shorter. Cool weather crops sown when this turn comes will usually do better than those sown during the extreme heat; but the longer sowing is delayed the more important it becomes to select fast growing—that is early—varieties.

Says Petroleum Prices Too Low

Washington, June 30 (AP)—An oil association official said today that available information indicates the present price of crude petroleum in this country is "subnormal and inadequate to cover the cost of replacing and maintaining" necessary reserves.

In a letter to B. A. Hardey, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, Russell B. Brown, association general counsel, said:

"For five years petroleum prices were frozen at a depressed level by the arbitrary action of the Office of Price Administration.

"This action persisted despite the repeated warnings and factual proof supplied by informed agencies in both industry and government showing that steadily increasing costs required price adjustments to insure continuing supplies of this essential commodity."

BREAK IN HEAT

Pittsburgh, June 30 (AP)—Light rains today brought a break in a week-end heat wave which sent crowds estimated at 100,000 thronging to Allegheny county's north and south parks. The Weather bureau said temperatures would reach a high of 85 degrees, today compared to a top of 90 yesterday.

WELL-GROOMED GARDEN CALLS FOR STAKING

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open and save the beauty of the delphiniums.

Gladioli with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and irises of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

Bamboo Recommended . . . The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted in their natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable. Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all, especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twiggy branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. If pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches and become pyramids of bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained. Get in a supply of stakes and give the plants known to need staking attention early in their career. The sooner staking is attended to, the less obtrusive will it be when the plant reaches the maturity of its bloom.

Mower Lasts Longer If Properly Oiled

The lawn mower will not only work with greater ease but it also will last longer if kept well oiled where metal friction occurs. A drop or two in each of the oil cups or holes every time it is taken out for use should become a habit. Use a good oil of medium thickness and for convenience keep the can close to where the mower is stored.

FINAL PLANTING DATES EXPIRE

July is an important 31-day period for vegetable growers, not only because it brings crucial battles against weeds, plant diseases and insects, but because it holds final planting date for several essential food crops. It is a wise gardener who keeps a thrifty eye on the calendar throughout July and misses none of these expiring limitations. Below we mention a few crops which cannot be planted later:

Cabbage: Set out well rooted plants between July 15 and 25. Cabbage plants are not injured by light frosts and can be expected to mature edible heads after the first early freezes.

Chinese Cabbage: Sow seed where the crop is to grow, preferably not later than July 10 to 15. This vegetable, too, is fairly immune to light frosts when nearing maturity. It is a welcome addition to the fall garden.

Carrots: Sow seed in the row from July 20 to August 1. If carrots are to be harvested as "baby" carrots—their most delicious stage—they may be planted safely at a later date. Anyway, give this healthful vegetable a prominent place in the late garden. Roots store easily for use over winter.

Celery: If plants are vigorous and well supplied with roots, they may be set out as late as July 10 to 15.

Swiss Chard: Most varieties reach edible size in 60 days after planting seed. This fact means Swiss chard for the extra late garden.

Watch Tomatoes For Late Blight

Late blight of potatoes was very prevalent on tomatoes last year, but ordinarily is not particularly serious. If agricultural authorities issue warnings that the blight is likely to attack this year, spray plants immediately with Bordeaux mixture or use one of the fungicides prepared especially for tomatoes.

operations, it is wise to place emphasis on the fact that irrigation during dry periods greatly speeds up growth. Here is an opportunity to enhance the late garden's value greatly. And in some cases the judicious use of fertilizers for side dressings hastens growth.

PARIS PARLEY ON MARSHALL PLAN HITS SNAG

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Little hope for unified action is found in early reports from the three-power conference (Britain, France and Russia) which is meeting in Paris to consider U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for the economic rehabilitation of chaotic Europe.

As had been widely anticipated, Russia has come out in opposition to any "all embracing economic program" for the hapless continent. Moscow takes the position that the task of the conference merely is to ascertain the amount of financial aid the various countries need from Uncle Sam and whether such aid could be secured under the Washington program. Each country would be dealt with as a unit in accordance with its own sovereign wishes, and not as a part of wholesale continental cooperation in recovery.

Of course if the Soviet Union adheres to this stand it will scuttle Marshall's project. Obviously if Europe is to be rehabilitated it must be treated as a whole and not piecemeal. The continent has resources for recovery, if these can be "marshaled" so as to give fair and advantageous distribution.

However, while there certainly is small ground for optimism at this writing, it would be unwise to dismiss the plan as a failure yet. It depends on what is in the back of Russia's mind. She had made it clear that she suspects Washington of having ulterior purposes in making the economic proposal—of scheming to extend American political influence in Europe. On the other hand, diplomatic circles in the western democracies charge that Moscow wants to keep Europe chaotic in order to enhance Communism.

If by chance it is merely Moscow's suspicion of Washington which is standing in the way, there is a bare possibility that this doubt can be dispelled. In that case Russia might change her mind and join in the rehabilitation program.

As this column pointed out last week, one of the greatest possible achievements which could come out of the Paris parley would be the dissipation of the suspicions which the eastern and western Allies entertain for each other. Naturally that couldn't be accomplished unless the doubts were without foundation, as America knows to be the case in connection with Moscow's idea that Washington is up to political skulduggery in proposing the economic program.

The alternative to cooperation among all the Allies would seem to be for the western nations to go ahead with the project in that part of Europe which is free of Russian domination. The consensus among observers in both Washington and London is that the time has come to work without Russia if we can't have her with us. Any idea of appeasement is out the window.

MURDER VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

Philadelphia, June 30 (AP)—Traced by a pair of orthopedic shoes, a 50-year-old unmarried bookkeeper was identified as the victim in Philadelphia's "barrel murder"—but police remained mystified today as to who strangled the woman and stuffed her body into a 50-gallon oil drum.

Relatives identified the body, found stuffed with sawdust on vacant lot in northeast Philadelphia June 2, as Margaret C. Dougherty. Detective Dennis McColgan said Miss Dougherty had been missing since May 6.

In the barrel, with the corpse and sawdust, were articles of clothing, a newspaper dated May 7, and an Atlantic City (N. J.) hotel towel, McColgan said.

Miss Dougherty was identified at the morgue by her brother, James, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Fredericks. McColgan said the woman, who had been unemployed since last winter, left a will in which her money and property were left to Thomas A. Hinkle, Reading (Pa.) bartender.

DISCOVER PLOT FOR MILITARY RULE IN FRANCE

By LOUIS NEVIN
Paris, June 30 (AP)—Interior Minister Edouard DePreux announced today the discovery of a "very widespread" plot by an organization known as the Black Maquis to overthrow the French republic and set up a military dictatorship.

DePreux said Gen. Guillaudot, inspector general of the French gendarmerie; Maj. Andre Loustauneau-Lacan, a rightist resistance leader who before the war acknowledged that he was a member of the anti-Republican Cagoulauds (Hooded Ones), and other officers and civilians had been arrested.

Generals Implicated
A usually reliable semi-official source said earlier that four French generals and several civilians had been implicated. DePreux told a news conference that whole units of the French army might have been involved.

He said first details of the clandestine organization of former right wing resistance leaders, monarchists and Vichy collaborationists became known to French police forces late in 1946 from police informers.

Through undercover investigation DePreux continued, police uncovered numerous details.

Have Complete "Plan"
He said the Black Maquis had drawn up a complete "blue plan" for first filling Frenchmen with fear of a "Communist putsch" and then stepping in to set up a "provisional directorate" of military leaders, patterned along totalitarian lines. The Maquis were French underground fighters during the war.

DePreux held a long conference this morning with Premier Paul Ramadier concerning the purported conspiracy.

French press agencies dispatches from Rennes, in Brittany, named M. De Vulpian, 47, editor of the weekly France Vivante and president of a veterans' organization, as among those arrested, together with Marc Jacquot, a wine merchant of Montigny, and the rector of the abbey at Lamballe, in Brittany, identified only as Rault.

Elected President Of Labor Conference

Harrisburg, June 30 (AP)—George M. Rhodes of Reading heads the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference of Central Labor Unions (APL) which plans to take action against the recently enacted Taft-Hartley bill.

Rhodes was elected at a meeting yesterday attended by representatives of eleven central labor unions. Other officers named by the group were Leon Decker, Wilkes-Barre, vice president; Robert Loneragan, Philadelphia, secretary, and Robert Knauss, Harrisburg, treasurer.

The group made tentative arrangements for a week-end institute in September, probably at Reading, when nationally known speakers will be invited to give the members first hand information on the provisions of the Taft-Hartley bill.

A resolution was adopted calling upon Governor James H. Duff to veto two bills passed by the General Assembly calling for increased hours and wages for women.

Barons Creep Up On Utica Leaders

(By The Associated Press)
The Wilkes-Barre Barons were within two games of the pacesetter Utica Blue Sox in the Eastern league race today after sweeping a three-game series with Williamsport.

The Barons gained a full game yesterday, winning a double header, 4-3 and 9-7, while the Sox split two with the Hartford Chiefs in the Connecticut Capital, 4-3.

In other games yesterday, Albany took two from the Binghamton Triplets, 6-1 and 5-1, to win the series, and Scranton turned back the Elmira Pioneers twice, 7-1 and 1-0. In Saturday's games, the Pioneers beat the Miners, 7-3; Wilkes-Barre shut out the Tigers, 10-0, and Utica trounced the Chiefs, 17-0.

Two Teams Tally 9 Runs In Ninth

(By The Associated Press)
League-leading Kingston and fourth-place Nazareth each had a nine-run inning in yesterday's North Atlantic league doubleheader and the barrage of base hits was more than enough for victory.

Nazareth copped the opener, 15-6, aided by a nine-run assault in the second inning, while Kingston tallied nine runs in the nightcap to win easily, 14-1.

Stroudsburg swept a doubleheader from Bloomingdale, 9-2 and 6-5. Nyack split with Carbondale, taking the opener 9-5 but losing the nightcap, 8-6.

Peekskill whipped Mahanoy City, 6-4, in the first game of a twin bill but bowed in the finale, 12-3.

Racers Return To Nazareth Fair

Nazareth, Pa., June 30 (AP)—Auto racing returned to the Nazareth fair grounds' half-mile oval for the first time in 10 years yesterday and Mark Light of Lebanon, Pa., won the opening feature.

Oil Export Policy Interstate Umpire Blamed For Shortage Gets In Last Laugh

Minneapolis, June 30 (AP)—Walter S. Hallanan, Pittsburgh, Pa., chairman of the National Petroleum Council, told the mid-season meeting of the American Petroleum Institute Marketing committee today that the federal government's export policy had been a major contributing factor in the present acute oil shortage.

He asserted in an address prepared for delivery at the opening session of the two-day meeting that 82,250 tons of tubular goods exported in the first quarter of 1947 would have built a 12-inch pipeline from West Texas to Chicago which "alone would solve all of the existing and threatened shortages in the middle west."

Hallanan said that although the oil situation was "tight," it was not one that should create "any degree of panic."

"In the face of tremendous increase in demand for petroleum products, we have every reason to believe that this demand could be met adequately if it were not for transportation bottlenecks that arise from inability to have sufficient basic steel materials to meet this vastly increased demand."

VACATION DRIVING

SEE SPREAD OF SHIPPING STRIKE

New York, June 30 (AP)—Extension of the present strike of CIO shipyard workers to embrace an estimated 58,000 to 69,000 more men in additional East coast areas and Gulf coast plants hinged on the outcome of new negotiations today but union leaders were pessimistic on the prospects of averting the spread of the walkout.

Some 42,000 ship repair and construction workers in 10 Atlantic Coast yards, members of the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers union, struck last Thursday to enforce demands for a 13-cent hourly wage increase, six paid holidays and a year end three-week paid vacations after 20 years' employment.

They have set midnight tonight as the deadline for operators to meet new contract demands or face extension of the strike.

Involved in the new talks are six shipyards but union spokesmen indicated there was no evidence the dispute would be settled on an overall basis before the deadline.

Under present contracts laborers receive 94 cents hourly and skilled workers $1.38. Operators, in rejecting the demands, said shipbuilding costs already were so high the American industry was handicapped in competition with foreign ship-yards.

Struck plants are nine Bethlehem Steel company yards from East Boston and Quincy, Mass., to Sparrows, Md., and 1,500 employees of the Atlantic basin and iron works here.

WEATHER TAKES MIDWEST TOLL

Strong winds, a devastating hail-storm and additional heavy rains in flood areas and elsewhere added heavily to the damage toll in the midwest over the week-end as the most expansive heat wave of the summer spread over virtually all the rest of the nation.

A tornado wrecked a six square block section of Hopewell, Va., Saturday. Ten persons suffered minor injuries. Otherwise, wind damage appeared to have centered in the upper midwestern states where gusts were measured as high as 80 mph an hour.

Dubuque and Spencer, Iowa, reported extensive damage to buildings. At Dubuque, two persons were western, 49-49½, nearby, 51½-52½; No. three large midwestern, 47½, nearby, unquoted.

Two men were killed in a burning plane which crashed into this house at Canaan, Conn. They were identified as Hubert Ansin, of Brookline, Mass., and Fayette Card of Lakeville, Conn., both 32. The plane, running into difficulty soon after taking off from the Canaan airport, burst into flames as it struck the roof, setting the house on fire. Occupants of the house escaped injury.

DEGREE FOR HALSEY

Bethlehem, Pa., June 30 (AP)—It would be meaningless to solve domestic problems without first seeking answers for international problems, says Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., USN, retired. Halsey spoke at the 79th annual Lehigh university commencement where he was awarded on honorary degree of doctor of laws yesterday.

reported killed by electric wires that had been blown down and at Emmetsburg, Iowa, a 60,000-bushel grain elevator was blown down and farm buildings scattered by wind estimated at 60 to 70 miles an hour.

Rulo, Neb., which had been flooded for several weeks by the Missouri river was further beset by a one-inch downpour which fell within a few minutes.

Grain, bean and sugar beat crops near Scottsbluff, Neb., were damaged, some of them destroyed, by a Saturday night hailstorm. Clark Nichols, county commissioner, reported that hailstones "the size of walnuts" fell for half an hour.

Will the 4th of July be "Labor Day" for you ?...

Lots of things could go wrong to spoil that wonderful weekend trip you've planned. Big things... like tire or engine trouble. Little things... like windshield wiper failure during a summer storm. en during the afternoon. It was impossible to hold all the events, but there was still plenty for everyone to enjoy. The children were divided into three groups for their contests. Reba Albright and Mrs. Charlotte Alwine had charge of the age group of 3, 4 and 5 years; Ruth Rice and Mrs. Mary Carey were in charge of the 6, 7 and 8 year olds, and Mrs. Connie Brown and Dora Shaeffer took care of the program for those 9, 10, 11, and 12 years. Mrs. Alwine was in general charge. They were assisted by Elmer Trump, Vincent Hawbaker, Leroy Crist and Edwin Minter.

Gifts for Children
There were special sets of games arranged for each age group, with prizes awarded first and second place winners. In addition, each child was given a gift, so that all had something.

There were Bingo games for the women and others, and a bean-guessing contest for the women. Three women tied in the latter, each guessing that the jar held 4,550 beans. They were the closest. The count showed more than 4,900 beans, however. Those who tied were Mrs. Harold Carbaugh, Gettysburg; Mrs. Roy Diehl, Biglerville; and Mary Lou Kanagy, Gettysburg R. 4. The prizes were Musselman products. These were also used for Bingo prizes.

The picknickers were provided with a picnic lunch at the close of the afternoon athletic contests. Biglerville and Gardners cafeteria staffs united in the preparation of ham and cheese sandwiches, potato salad and chips, coffee, iced tea, milk, chocolate milk, ice cream and cupcakes.

Draw for Prizes
Mrs. L. Musselman Arnold was in charge of the arrangements for the "cats" and refreshments, assisted by Miss Roberta Bittinger. Those from the Biglerville plant who helped arrange the lunch were Sara Lupp, Kathryn Phillips, Amanda Walker and Julia Trump; from the Gardners cafeteria, Gladys Heller, Amy Kennedy, Belle Lupp and Ethel Wisler.

After the picnic had been disposed of, drawings were held, with the ministerium; special vocal number, by the choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church; sermon, Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's; sermon topic, "The Carpenter of Nazareth"; benediction, Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed church.

The speaker next Sunday evening will be Rev. John C. Brumbach, Christ church and St. Luke's will have charge. The joint choir, under the direction of Paul Berwager, will sing. Miss Norma Miller, organist of Christ church, and Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, organist of St. Luke's, will share duties at the organ. In event of rain, the park services will be held in the Methodist church.

The sacrament of infant baptism will be administered in Christ Reformed church next Sunday morning at the 10:30 a.m. service.

Donald Kump, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kump, returned Sunday evening after spending a week at Camp Nawakwa, near Brysonia.

following receiving awards: Eddie Carbaugh, 71, Steinwehr avenue, of Gettysburg, a table radio; Gilbert Rose, Godners R. 2, a Mirromatic pressure cooker; Clyde Keir, Biglerville R. 1, electric fan; John Marsh, Gardners, electric clock and automatic electric iron; Betty Wagner, Biglerville, Kent coffee maker set; George Phillips, York Springs, glass plate and coffee cream set.

Old-Time Dancing
After the drawings Paul McKenrick and Donald Hall, Orrtanna, and S. E. Mowery, Fayetteville R. D., furnished the music for old-time square dancing, in which everyone, including the jitterbugs, took part with enthusiasm and enjoyment, in spite of the heat and humidity. Everybody danced—young and old. During intermission, the loud speaker system was used to play records of the more modern type of dance music, and the oldsters joined with the youngsters in at least attempting the newer steps.

Judges for the various contests were Mrs. Helen Hawbaker, Elwin L. Minter, A. L. Linah and Mrs. A. Romaine Geiselman, and Charles "Pete" Rogers, Gettysburg.

A large painted sign at the entrance to the park, "Welcome, Employees of C. H. Musselman Company," greeted the employees and their families upon arrival, and a competent corps of employees directed traffic and parked the many cars at the outing.

A. S. Stauffer was general chairman in charge of the picnic. Heads of other committees were: Foods, Mrs. L. Musselman Arnold; sports and recreation, J. W. Federick and R. C. Funk; tickets and posters, J. F. Kanagy; bingo, G. A. Slaybaugh, and grounds, E. M. Garreston.

MISS WALTER

Garretson, Arendtsville, classmate of the bride, who wore maize gowns of marquisette over taffeta, with sweetheart necklines. Their colonial bouquets were of Talisman roses with yellow carnations and blue delphinium, with matching tiana headresses.

Miss Evelyn Hikes, Gardners, sister of the groom, and Miss Esther Diveley, Gettysburg, also served as bridesmaids. They wore aqua gowns of marquisette over taffeta with sweetheart necklines and their colonial bouquets were of yellow carnations and snapdragons with matching tianas.

Miss Patricia Walter, sister of the bride, who served as flower girl, wore a blue rayon taffeta gown and carried a basket of mixed flowers with matching headress. She strewed rose petals before the bride. Donald Trostle, Biglerville R. D., who served as ring bearer, wore a white linen suit and carried an ivory satin pillow.

Organ Recital

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother-in-law, Glenn S. Baum, Elizabethtown. Richard Walter, Biglerville R. D., brother of the bride; Harry Hoffman, Gardners; Clair Wehler, Thomasville, and Harry Rohrer, Elizabethtown, friends of the couple, served as ushers.

Edward Robert Hoffman, Arendtsville, and Clair Baum, were acolytes. Mrs. Walter chose for her daughter's wedding a powder blue crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Hikes, mother of the groom, wore a pink crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Preceding the ceremony, David Bushman, Arendtsville, presented a 30-minute organ recital, which included "An Evening Prayer," by Gabriel; "Oh, Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert; "Thine Alone," by Herbert; "Oh, Perfect Love," by Burleigh; "Clair De Lune," by Debussy; "Ave Maria," Gounod; "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin, by Wagner; the wedding march from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Mendelssohn.

Miss Jean Louise Gable, Stewartstown, sang "Because," by d'Hardelot; "So Beate My Heart for You," by Waring, and "Oh, Promise Me," by De Koven.

The ceremony, which was performed by candlelight, was held in a setting of palms. A reception was held at the bride's home, with friends of the bride, Shirley Wierman, Marian Tate, Nancy Frederick, Mildred Price and Elaine Taylor as hostesses for the couple. After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip of unannounced destination.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore a white suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hikes graduated from Arendtsville Vocational high school, and Mr. Hikes from York Springs high school. He is assisting his father in farming. After their return they will reside for the present at the home of the bridegroom.

Dear Susan Brown

By Caroline Hall

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 4

Just as John Bates had said, Mrs. Tremont was a lady of considerable poise and dignity, although she was not precisely what Susan would have called "motherly." She was wearing a coat-dress of sheer navy blue crepe, obviously a survivor from more affluent days. It was a little threadbare, but the material was of excellent quality, and her accessories were spotlessly white.

"I'm so sorry I'm late," she said, holding out her hand. "You're Mrs. Tremont, of course. It would have served me right if you hadn't waited, but I hope you'll forgive me."

Mrs. Tremont accepted the apologies with a graciousness that made Susan all the more ashamed of herself. She had yet to learn that Cora Tremont, for all her estimable qualities, had a peculiar faculty for making people feel guilty.

"The position is yours, Mrs. Tremont. That is, if you feel you want it. We—we'll try to make it as pleasant for you as possible."

"I'm sure you will, my dear," said the woman, and smiled so engagingly that Susan was instantly disarmed.

Mrs. Tremont needed no rehearsal in the art of being a hostess, and John Bates had taken care of the explanations. The interview was simply for the purpose of getting acquainted and obtaining Susan's approval of the woman.

"I'll go now," said Mrs. Tremont. "I won't take up any more of your time. I'm sure I understand everything. I'm to report at the Reed estate next Monday and begin getting everything in readiness for your guests. I'll be there; you can depend on it."

"Thanks—oh, thanks! The caretakers will be on hand, of course. If you'll just see that everything's in order—you know where the place is, don't you?"

"Yes—yes, of course," Mrs. Tremont lowered her eyes and studied her white-gloved hands as they lay in her lap. "I know the place well. We used to own the adjoining estate. I—" Her voice broke on something faintly resembling a sob.

But she lifted her head high, as befitted a lady, and if there were tears in her eyes when she left the office, they were not too apparent.

Susan turned her attention to the letters which a girl had brought in a short while ago.

There were twenty letters from each state in the Union, culled from the tremendous volume of mail inspired by the contest. Each told in eloquent terms of the splendid work being done by "America Loves" in solving a nation's emotional problems. Each told, in five hundred words or less, how Susan's column had salvaged a marriage, or speeded up a dormant engagement, or rehabilitated a broken romance, or brought about a better understanding in a home whose finer relationships had been lost in the exigencies of modern living.

She set herself to the task of eliminating all but forty-two of the best entries.

"Why, I don't even remember advising all these people. Most of them are like strangers." She scanned a neatly typed letter from Lincoln, Nebraska, signed J. Howard Cranston, and smiled wearily. "I remember this one, though. He's the one who almost talked himself out of his marriage, till I told him off through the column."

By seven o'clock, when the lights went out in the outer offices and the night lights came on, Susan's eyes were burning and her back aching from bending over her desk so long. But she kept doggedly on. She picked up a letter written on pink stationery. That would be Bella's, of course. For some reason or other, Susan felt strangely drawn to this unknown lonely-heart who had found happiness through her column. At least she could remember "Bella," for there had been any number of grateful letters from the girl. In this one, Bella had written:

"I just can't tell you, dear Miss Brown, how happy I am! And I owe it all to you!!! Believe it or not, Frank and I are getting married next week! We are hoping to spend our honeymoon with you, our fairy godmother, on that gorgeous estate on Long Island! Won't you please, dear Miss Brown, make our dream come true."

Susan blue-penciled then "dear Miss Brown" and the "fairy godmother" sentence, then placed Bella's letter on top of the stack set aside for the judges' consideration.

Around ten o'clock, believing that she was alone in the office, she was a little frightened to hear footsteps outside in the corridor. A moment later her door opened and Steve Gellis, looking unusually handsome in dinner clothes, stood before her.

"Why, Susie!" he exclaimed. "I dropped by to pick up some papers and saw your light on. Don't tell me you're still working?" He seemed genuinely concerned.

Susan, painfully conscious of her disheveled appearance, nodded and tried to smile. "I—I had to," she said. "There's just not enough time."

"That's nonsense. Have you had your dinner?"

Susan shook her head. "I hadn't even thought of food," she confessed, laughing a little.

He came over to her desk and pushed the stacks of letters aside. "Well, you're going to think about it now. Get your bonnet on, Susie. You're going out with the boss and get a square meal under your belt. Then you're going home."

"But the letters—I'm not nearly through with them. Oh, I couldn't!"

Steve Gellis laughed, and it was a pleasant sound. "To heck with the contest," he told Susan. "I'm having a friend, Miss Linda Murchison, in tomorrow morning. She's to act as one of the judges. Linda and I will go through this mess of mail like a house afire. As matter of fact, she'll get quite a kick out of it."

A week ago she would have thrilled at the thought of going out to dinner with Steve Gellis, whatever the hour or the circumstances; even a moment ago she had been tempted now—

"Sorry, Mr. Gellis," she said. "I'll be going home in a little while, and I'd rather not stop till I'm through. Thanks just the same."

county prisoners on an oral agreement prior to the arrival of a written agreement.

Agree On Cost

Signed by Claude R. Robbins, president of the Dauphin prison board and the secretary of the board, the agreement needs only the signatures of the three Adams county commissioners. That signature will be affixed Wednesday, Smith said.

The agreement states that "during the period of time necessary for rebuilding or repairing of the Adams County Prison and during the time designated by the Department of Welfare as necessary for those purposes," Dauphin county will maintain the Adams county prisoners at a cost of $1 per day per

Member Cooperation

Charles A. Welsh, Jr., AP day editor, spoke on member cooperation and the duties of AP correspondents.

Lee Sunday, telegraph editor of the Clearfield Progress, gave details of a recent visit he made to the Philadelphia AP office and urged that member papers keep their requests for individual assistance as few as possible. Because there are so many AP newspapers, he added, all of whom seek individual assistance on a particular story from time to time, the AP has a tremendous job in answering all of the requests, Sunday said.

Vernon D. Heilman, telegraph editor of the York Dispatch, urged shorter stories and asked the AP to develop a daily round-up of European news which would cover the European situation in one story. "Whether we like it or not," he said, "our readers have little interest in Europe."

Those present included: Vernon D. Heilman, telegraph editor, York Dispatch; Philip H. Young, secretary-treasurer, York Dispatch; Jerome Weinstein, editor, Centre Daily Times, State College; Jack Yeager, associate editor, Centre Daily Times, State College; Lee Sunday, telegraph editor, Clearfield Progress.

H. F. Stacks, city editor, Lancaster Intelligencer-Journal; Harold E. Eager, sports editor, Lancaster Intelligencer-Journal; Ted Cress, news editor, Lebanon Daily News; R. B. Herbert, publisher, Greensburg Tribune-Review; Samuel S. George, editor, Greensburg Tribune; Jack Remaly, editor, Stroudsburg Record; Paul G. Gilmore, managing editor, Williamsport Sun; Arthur Ohl, telegraph editor, Williamsport Sun; Clifford Thomas, city editor, Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin; Frank Ziegler, telegraph editor, Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin; Quinton E. Beauge, editor, Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin; J. H. Carter, editor, Lancaster New Era; C. N. Netscher, telegraph editor, Lancaster New Era; G. Ken Newbould, assistant telegraph editor, Reading Eagle; S. P. Lewis, telegraph editor, Easton Express; W. P. Trach, reporter, Easton Express.

WIFE OF MISSING MAN ASKS HELP

State College, Pa., June 30 (P)—Mrs. Julia Haber asked friends in 45 states today to help in the search for her husband, Dr. Vernon R. Haber, Pennsylvania State college professor who disappeared on June 3.

Dr. Haber, professor of zoology left the college for lunch at home but failed to arrive there. Mrs. Haber, convinced her husband is a victim of amnesia, has offered a $500 reward for information as to his whereabouts.

Thousands of fliers with Dr. Haber's description have been printed and are being distributed throughout the nation to daily and weekly newspapers, radio stations, farm publications, missing persons bureaus and county sheriffs.

"I know Vern is alive," Mrs. Haber said. "He may be roaming around the country now, working as a farmer or a butcher."

Mrs. Haber said that in checking over their friends she found they knew persons in 45 states and that the descriptive fliers were mailed to each of them.

Bethlehem Steel Plant Is Closed

Baltimore, June 30 (P)—The Bethlehem Steel company reported today that one blast furnace and the rail mill and 60-inch plate mill had been closed down today because of the coal shortage.

In addition, five open hearth furnaces will be shut down at the end of today's shift, a company spokesman said, with some maintenance workers remaining to keep fires banked.

The company said that it was attempting to work in vacations where possible for the men affected by the shutdown and was unable to say "in round figures" how many would be involved.

Glee Smith, assistant director of Baltimore District 8, United Steelworkers of America (CIO), refused to say how many men were affected by the shutdown.

Fishermen Ready For Bass Season

Harrisburg, June 30 (P)—Thousands of Pennsylvania fishermen eyed favorite fishing spots today and settled back to await the opening of the 1947 bass season which gets underway at midnight.

Fish Commissioners Charles A. French predicted "good fishing" in most sections of the commonwealth and announced that streams have been stocked with more than 1,000,000 bass in the past two years.

French said the limit each day is six bass and the minimum legal size is nine inches. Bass season closes November 30.

The season also opens tomorrow for lake trout, muskellunge, pickerel and pike perch.

In 1939 there were almost 50,000 cases of smallpox reported in the United States.

"UNBLOCK"
 your DIGESTIVE TRACT
 And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headaches, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.
